

“Baseball Like It Oughta Be”

The Madison Mallards are pleased to have the opportunity to partner with the Restoring Hope Transplant House in an effort to make others aware of the House and create new supporters. The Mallards feel lucky to have the chance to help the Transplant House as they lend a helping hand to numerous individuals. Tuesday, June 17th should be a magical evening as two local organizations team up to educate the community. We hope that you and all of your friends will join us for this wonderful event.

We want to cordially invite you to come out to Warner Park, aka “The Duck Pond” on Tuesday, June 17th as the Madison Mallards square off against the Eau Claire Express. Come be entertained by college freshman, sophomores and juniors playing for the love of the game and the chance to play competitive baseball over the summer. The Mallards are the top team in the Northwoods League, which is the leading Summer Collegiate League in the entire nation. Averaging over 6,000 fans a night there are few ballparks that can compare to the wonderful atmosphere at a Mallards baseball game. From B-list celebrities like Emmanuel Lewis, Gary Coleman, Chewbacca to wild acts like the Human Cannonball, frog leg eating contests, the worlds largest water balloon launcher, and the dizzy bat race, some fans have trouble noticing that a baseball game is being played. With T-shirt tosses and on-field promotions between every half inning there is always something going on for the fans.

The Duck Pond is a family friendly ballpark though, catering to our favorite fans, the kids. With bounce houses, speed pitches, a playground, and all the cotton candy and ice cream a child could dream of it might be difficult to get them to leave. Stick around after the game too, as all Mallards players hang outside the clubhouse until every individual who wants an autograph has one.

So give your TV the night off and join the Transplant House and the Madison Mallards for a great cause and some quality entertainment.
